Yesterday a colored man and woman —Yesterday a colored man and woman tere arraigned before Judge Ray, at Bartlett, upon a charge unnecessary to state in this connection. I When Judge Ray called upon the accused to make defense, they mexpectedly smiled, and presented a marriage Reense to his honor, at the same time asking him to perform the ceremony. Judge Ray, whose sense of justice was tempered with mercy, compiled with the request, and folined the twain in the bonds of matrimony. The lawyers in attendance upon court had contributed a sum sufficient to pay for the license. Unlike ministers and justices of the peace, Judge Ray never receives a fee for marrying persons, but performs such service for charity.

The Indianapolis Journal, of June 2th, says: "Howe's circus pitched its tents in this city yesterday, and, together with Sanger's memager's, gave a series of first-class entertainments in that peculiar line. In the circus it is the endeavor of the management to give the public all that is promised, and the immense crowds in attendance upon both performances afford evidence of success in the commendable effort. The street display was long and unique in every particular, being somewhat new in circus pageants. The company too, is made up of thotough artists in their various specialties, and to undertake anything like a full description of the marvels of the areas would be a task of gignitic proportions. The combination is, in most thorough training, and many new and shothing features were introduced. The equestrian partion of the feast was exceptionably good, and absolutely nothing was bad, and even the torridity of the temperature could not keep the thousands of circus-goers away from the show. We are daily receiving testimonials of a highy complimentary character. G. W. Jones &

Co.'s, 278 Second street, opposite Court square,

The supreme court at Jackson, Saturday rendered a decision in the case of the State of Ten-nessee and city of Memphis ca. Wm. L. Duff. re-corder, as will be seen by the following telegram to opinion of this gentleman was pablished in our columns.

The questions involved were, in brief, whether the city recorder, when acting as conflicto justice of the peace in the examination of cases for a violation of the criminal law of the State, was critical to charge fees for such services, as allowed by law for magistrates. The State chalcoed that the services should be performed without fees. The city claimed that if the recorder was cuitied to charge for such services, that such fees should be peid over to the city, that the salary fixed for the recorder gave the city the right to collect and receive my and all fees due the recorder as ex officio justice of the peace. This was one branch of the impeachment case. Judge Turley decided all of the questions involved in favo of Colonel Duff and against the positions taken by both must dramatic company, the opening play being Discore, which is fundifier to the amusement-loving people of this city. The piece as presented last alght was well mounted, new scenery having been painted especially for this company. This added very much to the general effect of the play, and is indeed a long-needed feature to the above place of entertainment. Discore had night was acceptable, Mr. Exans, as "Afred Addindne," being warmly greeted and renerously praised by the andlenes for he is no stranger to the Hemphis stage. Mr. Evans is agood actor, and now takes the roles which Mr. Bonliace played so well here for the past seasons, Of Mr. Evans as an actor we will not speak critically in this connection, for his talent is recognized here, and his merits rightly appreciated by the company in which he occupies such a conspletions position. The piece was pleasing throughout, the interest of the audience being unbroken in every act and scene, a fact which speaks well for the company, and welchs more with the true admirer and friend of the drama, than complimentary details of the different members. Discore will be presented this evening and A Victims of Circumschaeca to macrow. The Crowning Trinmph—Howe's Great
